The Ground Beneath Your Feet is Sacred

Haudenosaunee Cultural Resource Protection

Peter Jemison and Jack Rossen

Monday, June 14, 2010

Syracuse Stage, 820 East Genesee St.

Coordinated by Neighbors of the Onondaga Nation

PROGRAM

Welcome: Joe Heath, the Onondaga Nation General Counsel for over 25 years. His legal work has included civil rights issues (famously the Attica trial), criminal defense, child abuse and environmental protection.

For centuries the cultural heritage of the Haudenosaunee has been under assault, including everything from excavation of burial grounds for development to the theft of human remains and important cultural artifacts which were stored in museums. Learn about the increasingly successful efforts to reverse this trend and preserve this crucial heritage for the Haudenosaunee and the wider community.

PRESENTERS

Peter Jemison (Seneca) manages the Ganondagan State Historic Site, a re-creation of a 17th-century Seneca village, located in Victor, New York. Jemison represents the Seneca Nation of Indians on repatriation issues; he served on the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation and on the board of directors of the American Association of Museums. He is also an artist whose work has been widely shown for more than three decades. His paintings and drawings have shown in solo exhibitions at the Albright-Knox Art Gallery in Buffalo and at the Fenimore Art Museum in Cooperstown, New York. He was the founding director of the American Indian Community House Gallery in New York City.

Onondaga Land Rights & Our Common Future II Organizing Committee: Juliann Anesi, Phil Arnold, Sue Eiholzer, Deborah Holler, Regina Jones, Robin Kimmerer, Richard Loder, Mary MacDonald, Andy Mager, Jack Manno, Erin O'Neill, Lindsay Speer. Interns: Nissa Thor
Series Logo Design: Tracy Thomas

Jemison received a BS in art education and an honorary doctorate in fine arts from Buffalo State College in Buffalo, New York. He is the director of the film Hanondagonyes "Town Destroyer" (2005) and coeditor of Treaty of Canandaigua 1794: 200 Years of Treaty Relations Between the Iroquois Confederacy and the United States, Clear Light Publishers, 2000.

Jack Rossen is the Chair of the Anthropology Department at Ithaca College. An archaeologist, Jack's recent work has focussed on an early Cayuga village site near Cayuga Lake. He'll report on the preliminary findings of their work finding settlement from the 10th century. Jack was one of the founders of SHARE (Strengthening Haudenosaunee American Relations through Education). He is part of developing a "new vision" for archaeology, one that cooperates with and strives to be a positive force for Native people, studies issues that Native people are interested in, is oriented to site protection, and respects sacred areas and burial grounds. Jack has worked and taught throughout the US and South America as well as taking classes to study on the big island of Hawaii.
