

SPC is working through the Progressive Coalition to help ensure that our votes will be counted correctly in Onondaga County. Photo: Andy Mager

Summer is always a busy time for outreach, and SPC tables and marches as part of several downtown events. We continue to be the only group to march in both the local Juneteenth and Pride Parades, as far as we know. Photo: Harry Freeman-Jones

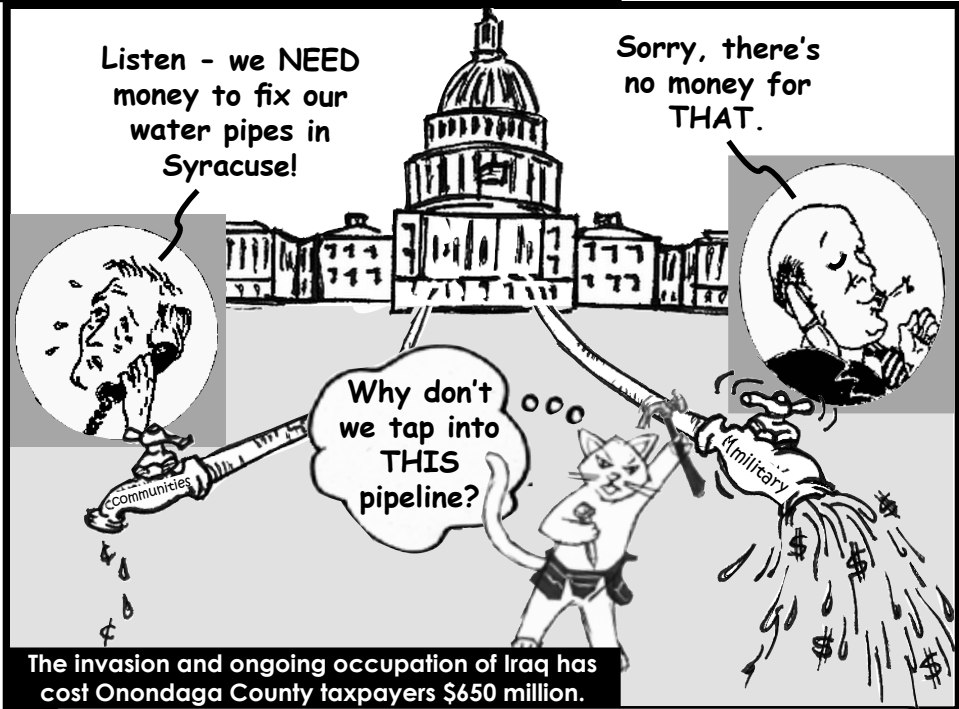

SPC Highlights Summer/Fall 2006

Over 200 people attended SPC's 70th birthday dinner which featured longtime activist and advocate for a just US policy towards Iraq, Kathy Kelly. Photo: Ray Trudell

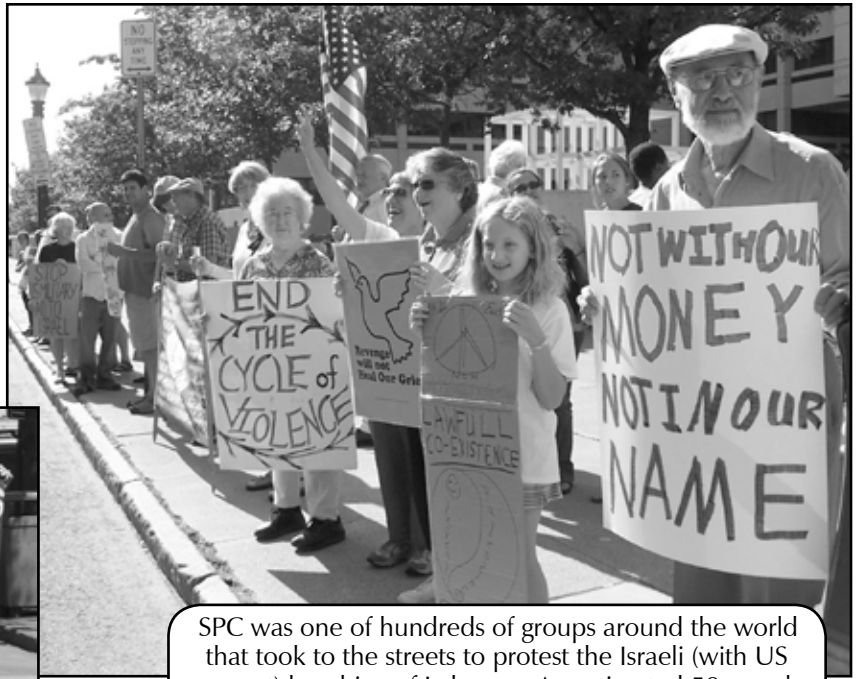

Neighbors of the Onondaga Nation, an SPC project, plays a large role in organizing the successful speakers series at Syracuse Stage. Oren Lyons spoke Sept. 11 about "Racism, Native American Human Rights and the UN." The next talk will be held Nov. 27. Photo: Tammy Crandall

SPC's Local Cost of the War Committee produced a series of educational leaflets breaking down the occupation's cost to the local level. Hundreds of flyers featuring this cartoon were handed out at Al Gore's lecture at the Landmark Theatre. In all, we distributed several thousand leaflets. Graphics: John Burdick & Kate Woodle

SPC in the STREETS!

SPC was one of hundreds of groups around the world that took to the streets to protest the Israeli (with US support) bombing of Lebanon. An estimated 50 people gathered outside the Federal Building in Syracuse.

Photo: Carol Baum

In August, SPC worked with other local groups to organize the annual Hiroshima Day Procession. It was followed by speakers and lobby visits to our local Federal Representatives to advocate a responsible US policy towards Iran.

Photo: DJ Igelsrud

SPC joined with the Onondaga Nation, Partnership for Onondaga Creek, NAACP and others to bring the Environmental Justice For All bus tour to Syracuse in September. The tour brought political and media attention to the Midland sewage treatment plant and Onondaga Lake.

Photo: Phil Arnold

Angela Davis was a featured speaker at SPC's Voices Against the War rally that brought out almost 200 people on a cold, rainy October evening.

Photo: Andy Mager

When the immigrant solidarity movement hit the streets in May, SPC worked with local community groups, including the Spanish Action League to pull together an energetic solidarity march, despite the rain.

Photo: Andy Mager